

Some May Pay Fines Twice In Bristol

By ROGER KOHN
Courier Times Staff Writer

Had any tickets in Bristol Borough within the last few months? If so, make sure you find the receipt given when you paid the fine. You might have to pay it again.

As the investigation into the way former Bristol JP Peter Harkins ran his office continues, Bristol's other JP Eugene Spadacino has been authorized to deal with any pending cases.

He has been told to collect all fines due the state and borough unless Harkins' records show that these fines have been paid already, or unless the violator has a receipt to show that he paid.

If the violator claims to have paid, but cannot show a receipt, and there is no record of such a payment, Spadacino has been told to collect the fine again.

"If they don't pay, they will be prosecuted," Spadacino said.

This move is the latest in the investigation which is intended to discover just how much money Harkins should have handed over to the state and borough in the way of fines, and just how much he did in fact hand over.

Harkins Resigned

Spadacino has already been authorized by the state auditor general's office and the Bucks County district attorney's office to collect state fines on cases pending when Harkins resigned July 30.

Authorities from the auditor general's made a thorough check of records at the Bristol police station last week to find out what had happened to money due to the state.

Last night, Bristol Borough

Council authorized borough treasurer James Eagan to take possession of the file dealing with pending local cases and turn them over to Spadacino. The two officials went to the police station this morning.

State Fines

State fines include more serious traffic offenses such as reckless driving, leaving the scene of an accident, failing to yield the right of way, and any violations to do with registration, licenses, titles, and inspection stickers.

Local fines cover offenses such as passing red lights and stop signs, parking, and speeding.

Eagan made his first attempt

McNamara Says:

U.S. Ahead Of Russia In A-Power

WASHINGTON (UP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara asserted today that the United States, with "tens of thousands" of atomic warheads, was "manifestly superior" to Russia in nuclear power and would risk little in ratifying the test ban treaty.

Falls School Board Denies Any 'Secrecy'

By AL CHESTER
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Charges that the Falls Township School Board has been holding too many "secret" sessions brought angry denials last night from board treasurer Raymond Lipschutz.

The charges were leveled by Jean Luck, a Fallsington resident and Republican candidate for school director in the November elections. The Falls board is presently all Democratic.

"I object to the word 'secret,'" Lipschutz retorted. He said the word had "emotional overtones." He said the board is fully em-

Good Evening!

Good sleeping weather lately.

However, it's not too wonderful during the day if it's your vacation week. Looking out the window this morning, it looks as if rain will erupt momentarily.

Hay fever season approaching.

Pretty soon the exodus to Florida, New Hampshire and other pollen-free spots will start. Those who stay will go on handkerchief and pill diets.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk gave the nuclear pact an added push by putting the reason for it in terms everyone can understand.

The pact would eliminate the international "game of chicken" in which an East-West collision would wipe out hundreds of millions of people, Rusk said.

The Levittown Potway is finally going to be resurfaced.

That's a beginning. Now if the Highway Department really wants to do something for Lower Bucks, how about ironing out the washboard Route 1 especially where it goes through Middletown and Bensalem.

The central and western part of this state have been getting all the road money for too many years. Our politicians ought to get hot to get us our fair share. Of course we ought to get hot to get our fair share of politicians. Lower Bucks is under-represented and only reapportionment will correct the evil.

By the time the Delaware Valley Expressway is finished we will all be using flying belts.

Stan Musial will retire.

Just when baseball would have had a playing grandfather, Musial made most of us "oldsters" feel young every time he played. It's too bad he feels it's time to call it quits.

Suspect Fled Across River In Canoe

By BEN McELVEEN and PAUL ALTAIRE
Courier-Times Staff Writers

A Morrisville police officer today singlehandedly captured a Trenton man who early this morning escaped Ewing Township, N. J. police after he and a companion were surprised while breaking and entering the Delavue Grill, River Road, Ewing. The tavern is across the river from Yardley.

Captured late this morning was Louis Abromowitz, 26, of 231 E. Front St., Trenton, who surrendered to Ptl. Joseph Cavanaugh after the officer fired a shot over his head.

Arrested by Ewing police at the scene of the attempted burglary at 3:45 this morning was Edward Rodweller, 24, of Trenton, who police said has no known street address. Rodweller, according to police, has a police record.

Yardley, Makefield, Morrisville and Ewing police had been searching the areas on both sides of the river throughout the early morning hours after Abromowitz managed to escape in a canoe after being surprised at the tavern by police.

Ptl. Cavanaugh spotted Abromowitz while patrolling Pennsylvania Ave., near Union Ave. in Morrisville in an unmarked car.

The officer said Abromowitz walked across the road in front of the car not suspecting he was a police officer. Cavanaugh said Abromowitz looked suspicious to him and that he circled the block once, spotted him again and ordered him to wait.

Cavanaugh immediately phoned the Trenton radio dispatcher then searched for Abromowitz again. At North Delmor Ave. and Old Creek Bed he spotted him, drove ahead of him and parked the car in watchful waiting.

Fires Warning Shot

As Abromowitz came into view, Cavanaugh fired a shot and Abromowitz surrendered. Cavanaugh ordered him to lie on the ground until other police arrived on the scene.

Ewing police said the pair had stolen a canoe along the river

Police Find Hideout Of Mail Robbers

LONDON (UPI) — Police found the hideout of the mail train robbery gang today about 72 hours after the bandits had fled with the loot of more than $7,000,000 from history's biggest holdup.

Scotland Yard disclosed the hideout was discovered about 11 this morning on a secluded farm 42 miles northwest of London.

"Empty mail bags" were found said Commander George Hatherill, deputy commander of Scotland Yard.

The hideout was a brick house called Leatherslade farm, about 23 miles from the scene of last Thursday's robbery at Cheddington.

Hatherill said the house looked as though the gang had left "in rather a hurry."

"There were a lorry (truck) and two Landrovers (Jeep-like vehicles) outside. A pit had been dug. It looked as though they intended to bury the stuff," the commander said.

Hatherill said no money was found at the hideout, but that some mailbags had been located.

He said the hideout "resembled an empty cottage." He said it was located some distance from main roads and warned that police would keep the area sealed

At Silver Lake Park Family Threatened, Guard To Be Hired

Bucks County Commissioners today resolved to take steps to keep undesirable out of Silver Lake Park. The subject came up at a commissioner's meeting when Commission Chairman Edward B. Boyer related that he

New Hope Loses Only Police Car

Lt. Crawford Worstall, New Hope Borough police, proceeded to Ferry St. and Stockton Ave. at 11 a.m. yesterday to investigate a minor car collision.

He parked his police car — the borough's one and only — on Ferry St., apparently not realizing how close the vehicle was to the railroad tracks which run along Stockton Ave. He walked several paces to the scene of the accident.

Crunch!

Worstall turned around to discover the car being pulled away by a locomotive. The locomotive had caught the rear bumper. Before the engine could stop, the police car was pulled broadside into the side of the engine.

More crunches followed. The car was totally demolished.

Members of the police force today are riding around in a car borrowed from a local garage.

County, Boro Probe Blaze

Bucks County Fire Marshal Fred Hibbs and Bristol Fire Chief William Bolton are investigating a 90-minute fire which caused $8,000 worth of damage to a shed on Bristol Wharf yesterday afternoon.

Bolton said that two small boys were seen near the shed playing with matches shortly before the blaze started at 4:30 p.m.

The building contained building equipment belonging to Crocco Inc., and also an automobile. About $5,000 worth of damage was done to the building, and $3,000 to the contents, said Bolton.

The shed is situated at the rear of the Bristol Theater, which for a time was endangered by the flames.

One fireman, Jerry Ennis, 26, of 323 Washington St., Bristol, was treated at Delaware Valley Hospital after complaining of chest pains while fighting the fire.

Weather Takes Turn For Worse

The weatherman painted a dismal picture for Lower Bucks County today.

Showers and scattered thunderstorms, accompanied by increasing winds, were forecast for today and tonight. The windy breezes were moving ahead of a cold front coming into the area from the Great Lakes region.

The limited ban would slow Soviet nuclear progress and prolong U. S. superiority, McNamara told the Senate in the second day of hearings on the historic Moscow pact.

He acknowledged that Russia "apparently" was ahead of the United States in design of super-bombs in the multi-megaton range — a point that has disturbed some Senate critics and military leaders.

But he said that lead resulted from America's "considered decision" against concentrating on such bombs. He said horror weapons of the 100-megaton type, which Russia could develop, had doubtful military utility compared with smaller megaton weapons that America could launch now with precision and in vast numbers.

Says Risks Small

Asserting his "unequivocal support" of the treaty, McNamara said the risks it entails "are either small or under our control and the values under the treaty are substantial."

This was in essence the same thing Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Monday. Rusk was the administration's first witness before the senate foreign relations, armed services and atomic energy committees to urge ratification of the pact which would ban air, space and underwater tests but allow continued underground blasts.

McNamara elaborated on several points made Monday by Rusk, particularly assuring senators that this country will pursue underground testing and will keep at peak readiness to resume atmospheric testing and other developments at once if Russia breaks the ban.

Rusk also said he felt a prime reason the Soviet Union agreed to the test ban was because the U-

Money OKd For Shelters

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A House armed services subcommittee today approved the first step of a vast new civil defense program to provide the nation with fallout shelter protection against nuclear attack.

The House group, headed by Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., cleared legislation which would authorize federal aid to communities across the nation to help build fallout shelters in schools, hospitals and other public and private non-profit institutions.

The administration had requested $175 million in shelter aid this year as a first step in the proposed five-year program. The subcommittee approved the full amount by a 9-2 vote.

The legislation would also authorize $15.6 million worth of shelter construction in federal buildings all over the country.

Local Taxis To Jump Fares

HARRISBURG (UPI) — The Windsor Taxi Service and the Levittown Taxi Cab Co. today were authorized by the Public Utility Commission to increase fares Thursday for rides in the Tullytown area of Bucks County.

The PUC said both companies will charge 50 cents for the first three-quarters mile instead of a mile. No change was to be made in their dime charge for each additional quarter-mile.

Windsor estimated that the revision will produce $5,200 more annually, while Levittown Taxi said it expected an additional $2,800. The firms said a percentage of the added revenue will go to drivers in increased commissions. They said more money was needed to meet higher operating costs.

Blast Rocks Berlin Wall On Birthday

BERLIN (UPI)—A heavy explosion on the Communist side of a border canal early today ushered in the second anniversary of the hated Red-built Berlin wall.

West Berlin police said a blue flame shot 45 feet into the air as the blast echoed across the Teltow Canal at 3:30 a.m. (10:30 p.m. EDT Monday).

The mysterious explosion went off in the restricted zone behind barbed wire on the East German bank of the canal. West Berlin police said they saw Communist border guards carrying out a search and heard shots. But they could not see if the Reds arrested anyone. The cause of the explosion was not known.

Only Reported Incident

The blast site was about a mile southwest of the main U.S. Army base at McNair Barracks, at a point where the Teltow Canal forms the border between East Germany and the West Berlin American sector of Zehlendorf.

The incident, deliberate or not, was the only one reported in the early hours of the anniversary as both East and West acted to keep the day a peaceful one.

It was feared, however, that there might be demonstrations after an 8 p.m. (3 p.m. EDT) rally in the meeting hall of the Technical University. This rally was called by the "Union of Political Prisoners" under the motto "The Wall Must Fall."

Riot squads stood at alert in West Berlin as wreaths to refugees killed while trying to escape from communism were laid at the wall during the day without any disturbance. West Berlin police put up barricades, held water cannon in readiness and were prepared to put down promptly any

Unknown Sits In Burning Car

Tullytown Borough police are trying to learn the identity of the man who yesterday sat calmly in the front seat of a car parked in the Levittown Shopping Center while the back seat smoked and burned.

Police said a passerby drew the man's attention to the fire. The man and the passerby fought the fire, but it took the Tullytown Fire Company to put it out. In the excitement, the man disappeared.

It turned out later that the car belonged to Judy Palinczar of Trenton. Damage to her car was estimated at $500. The Trenton woman did not know who the man might be.

He was described as a Caucasian in his 40s, heavy-set, stocky, wearing dark-rimmed glasses and a white, peaked cap.

Bucks Y.M.C.A. Burglarized

Bristol Township Police Officer Norman Stoner is investigating the theft of $11 change and an unknown amount of money that was in two machines at the Y.M.C.A. on Levittown Parkway.

The theft took place between Saturday evening and yesterday morning, police said. Entry was gained through a door in the basement.

The $11 was taken from the office, while a coke machine and a milk machine were also forced open.

Assistant Supt. Named At Pennsbury

The Pennsbury Schools will get a new administrator beginning Sept. 1. He is David Rhone, at present business manager of the Upper Merion School District, who will take over a newly-created post similar to that vacated by William Ingraham when he became regional superintendent of Pennsbury.

The post, with an annual salary of $13,750, is assistant regional superintendent in charge of business affairs. In this capacity Rhone will be in charge of the business ends of the cafeteria, transportation, maintenance, and Falls Township recreation. He will also be responsible for accounting, purchasing, child accounting, plus the duties which Ingraham performed.

Rhone, 39, currently lives in King of Prussia with his wife, Eleanor, and their son Daniel, 14. He will move shortly to this area.

Holder of a B.S. in business education from Shippensburg State College, Rhone is attending the University of Pennsylvania where he is completing the requirements for a Masters in school business management.

From 1955 to 1957 he was with the school finance division of the Department of Public Instruction, Harrisburg.

Then, from 1957 to 1961 he was finance officer for the Pinellas County Board of Public Instruction, Clearwater, Fla. This area comprises 60,000 students, 4,100 employees. 101 schools, two of which are junior colleges.

Rhone came to Upper Merion in January of 1961. In addition to his post as business manager there, he taught school lunch accounting at Indiana State College in the summer.

Rhone was in the European Theater with the U.S. Army from 1943 to 1945.

U.S. Ahead

ban crisis last fall gave Kremlin leaders a look "into the pit of the inferno." Rusk said Russia concluded it was in its self-interest to agree to the treaty, which it had rejected previously.

U. S. Maintains Forces

McNamara said neither an unlikely successful secret violation nor an abrupt abrogation with surprise testing on Russia's part would threaten U. S. security. Nothing that could happen under the treaty's terms or in violation of them, he said, could change the basic fact that America "will maintain its ability to survive a surprise attack with sufficient power to destroy the Soviet Union."

The Pentagon chief sought to meet head-on several senatorial concerns about the accord's military effects. He said the United States still could build as large bombs as it needed. He said survival of underground missile sites could be insured despite some uncertainties that atmospheric testing could clear up about their vulnerability.

McNamara said America could proceed with development of anti-missile defenses with or without a test ban, using analysis to overcome uncertainties about the way that nuclear blasts might black out defense radar and communications. And regardless of Soviet missile defense developments, he said, American weapons would be able to "penetrate and devastate" Russia if it ever came to that.

Joseph O. Canby, Republican candidate for county commissioner and Middletown Township supervisor, back from a 20-day visit to the Soviet Union had many acid comments concerning the "Red Carpet" treatment he received there.

Canby, a member of the Pennsylvania People - to - People delegation, complained that the delegation was allowed by Russia's In-Tour Agency to talk only to persons "approved" by their guide, a high ranking official in the Red MVD, secret police.

Canby was favorably impressed by only the Moscow subway and the efficiency of the Communist educational system.

Asked if he was glad to be back in Middletown Township, Canby calmly answered that the question was silly. He added that after living for more than two weeks in a country where your every move is spied upon and every conversation is in danger of being "bugged" it was like "paradise" being home again.

Speaking of spying — not long ago, a nine-year old boy went into the Middletown Township Municipal Building and politely knocked on the nearest office door.

It was the tax collector's office door and Mrs. Claire Miller, assistant tax collector, opened it.

Prisoners Dig Deep For Big Brothers

To the average working man $15.20 is not an enormous sum. But it is to the inmates of the Bucks County Prison, who receive a few cents a day for cigarette money for their daily labors.

The inmates raised this sum for the Big Brothers of Bucks County. Mrs. Doris Rutledge, executive director of the Big Brothers, accepted the sum today at the Bucks County Prison.

At the ceremony, two young prisoners, both from Trenton, related that they felt they went wrong because they felt there was "no one to look up to."

They said they felt the lack of an older man in their lives left them without guidance. Major John Case, prison warden, said that several of the prisoners had donated all they have.

Mrs. Rutledge said that the association must raise its own funds until 1965 when it may come under the United Fund. She said that 18 men already had applied to act as "volunteer fathers" for deprived youngsters in Bucks County.

"Show me where the Falls board has been party to any act or decision where public action has not been taken," he demanded.

Board member Bradshaw Snipes said executive sessions are held to discuss recommendations, information, and reports "which do not properly belong to the public."

Violating State Law?

At the meeting of the Pennsbury jointure which followed, Luck also questioned the joint board's "excessive closed sessions" and wondered if they weren't violating a state law.

He said the state legislature repealed a section of a law which provided for executive sessions and substituted a provision calling for more open meetings. "I wonder if the board isn't violating the spirit of the law in violating this section," he stated.

Luck claimed the state law provides for executive sessions for purposes of investigation only.

Locals Named On Crossing Park Board

HARRISBURG (UPI)—The appointment of the following persons to the Washington Crossing Park Commission was announced Monday by Gov. William W. Scranton:

Frederick Banks, Washington Crossing; Thomas E. Coe Jr., Langhorne; Mrs. Adrienne Franklin, Churchville; Mrs. Elizabeth Slater, Levittown; Parke M. Wetherill, Doylestown; Mrs. Sarah S. H. Uzzell, Bryn Mawr, Delaware County; Jay M. Biery, Wyncote, Montgomery County; Eugene C. Fish, Jenkintown, Montgomery County.

The governor also announced the reappointment to the commission of Mrs. Margaret MacDonald Clark, Philadelphia.

The appointees were named to the board during the 1963 legislative session but had not been confirmed because Senate Democrats refused to supply the votes needed for the two-thirds majority. They will serve until January, 1964.

Mrs. Ann Hawkes Hutton is also a member of the commission having been appointed and confirmed earlier in the year.

Boyer quoted the mother as saying the group used vile language. "Such mischief must be stopped," Boyer said. He ordered Park Board Director Robert W. Pierson to hire a guard who is to be stationed permanently at Silver Lake. He also advised that a sign be posted restricting the park to Bucks County residents only.

To Post Sign

Commissioner John J. Bodley said a sign should also be erected to restrict swimming. Bodley said a group was swimming Sunday when he visited the site.

In other business this morning, the commissioners were notified that the state does not intend to buy a 135-acre tract at Wiesel in Upper Bucks.

The county would have received $100,000 for the site which would be incorporated into a state park. Boyer said this latest development contradicted an earlier promise made by the state.

Ewing police fired two shots, the bullets finding their mark in a rear plate glass window, and captured Rodwell while Abramowitz made good his temporary escape by jumping through the window.

Pt. Cavanaugh, who has been on the Morrisville police force since 1951, is married and has a wife and three children. He lives at 251 W. Palmer St., Morrisville. He is 36 years old.

To Be Extradited

Morrisville Police Chief John S. F. Davis said that Abramowitz agreed to be extradited to New Jersey. Davis said he will be taken to Justice of the Peace John Melvin of Falls Township to face charges of being a fugitive from justice. From there he will be taken before a judge in Doylestown and eventually returned to New Jersey.

Auto Drives Across Lawns

An unidentified car was driven across two Forsythia Gate lawns last night and narrowly missed crashing into a ham-radio antenna.

Middletown Township police reported the car took an illegal short-cut from Forsythia Drive to Fieldstone Road. The car narrowly missed the antenna owned by John B. Johnston of 11 Fieldstone Road, Forsythia Gate, Levittown.

Police are still investigating.

Youth Facing Five Charges

A 16-year-old Levittown youth, whose car hit a light pole Sunday, has been released in the custody of his parents to await action in juvenile court.

Roland Walko of 16 Tanglewood Lane, Thornridge, was arrested Sunday by Falls Township police on five charges: speeding, driving without an operator's license, failure to stop on an officer's signal, reckless driving, and operating a vehicle without the consent of the owner.

The accident occurred in front of 15 Tanglewood Lane when Walko lost control of the car.

Pennsbury Oks Health Insurance

All full-time employees of the Pennsbury Schools will be eligible for a new health insurance program which was adopted last night by the Pennsbury Joint School Board. It will become effective Sept. 15 or at the earliest possible date after that. The board has agreed to pay 50 per cent of the costs. The employee will pay the remaining 50 per cent and 100 per cent of the cost for dependents.

The basic part of the plan is to be the Philadelphia Co-Pay (70-day) Group Blue Cross Program and the Pennsylvania "B" Medical-Surgical Blue Shield Plan.

Major medical coverage will be awarded to the Connecticut General Life Insurance Co.

The board estimated its average annual cost for each covered employee would be $38.64.

In other action last night, the board voted to admit the school districts in the Neshaminy System and the Bristol Borough School District to the Bucks County Technical School.

Reduces Payments

The students from the new districts would not attend for the next two years, but Neshaminy and Bristol have agreed to pay a percentage of the past indebtedness prior to their students attending.

William Ingraham, regional superintendent of Pennsbury, said this agreement would reduce the capital payments of the existing districts. The districts presently sending students to the tech school are Bristol Township, Morrisville, Pennsbury and Bensalem.

The technical school faced with the increased enrollment is currently considering plan expansion. George M. Schaffer, its director, has said the building might have to be doubled. Students from the new districts would have to wait till the additions are completed.

The remaining member districts will act on the admittance resolution before Monday.

Councilman Alfred Cordisco, chairman of the police committee, raised the matter at last night's council meeting. He asked Nealis why he had told the police secretary to prevent Eagan from looking at the files.

"I Was Not Notified"

"Because I was not notified," answered Nealis, "I got a call this afternoon from the police secretary. As mayor in charge of the police department I should have been notified about it beforehand."

Cordisco, after claiming that the mayor did not have jurisdiction over police records suggested that Eagan be given access to the records, and that they then be turned over to Spadacino.

"When Harkins resigned," said Eagan, "there were a number of fines outstanding. The state auditors made a list of the state fines and gave them to Mr. Spadacino with a letter authorizing him to collect them. We want to give Mr. Spadacino similar rights with local fines."

Solicitor Edwin N. Popkin ruled that the records should be made available to the treasurer.

Scooter Tips, Driver Hurt

A Levittown teen-ager was injured yesterday when the home-made scooter he was riding tipped over on him as he rounded a corner on Stonybrook Drive, Levittown.

Treated for a laceration of the right leg at Lower Bucks County Hospital, and released, was Dale Writer, 14, of 63 Shelter Lane, Stonybrook.

Ann Hawkes Hutton Play Will Premiere On Monday

Ann Hawkes Hutton, author, historian and civic leader, has now become a playwright and lyricist.

Her first play, "The Decision," is now under production and will have its premiere Monday evening at the Cherry Lane Playhouse, in the Pocono Mountains near Stroudsburg.

"The Decision" is a dramatization of the Washington Crossing story. It is in three acts with music for which Mrs. Hutton has written the lyrics. Producers are Rea Hooker and Jack Irwin, the latter of whom will play Washington. Irwin had Broadway leads in "Most Happy Fella" and "The Music Man," succeeding Robert Preston. He has also appeared on the Jack Paar Show and in the DuPont show with Joan Crawford.

Wid Experience

The director is Gene Harris who has had wide experience on Broadway and in summer theaters. During the past winter he directed at the Palm Beach, Fla., Playhouse.

Mrs. Hutton observed today:

"Many famous actors and great playwrights have tried to bring Washington to life without success. What makes me bold enough to think I can do what others much more talented failed to accomplish? I believe it is because I've studied Washington carefully and with sincere admiration for so long — 25 years — that I understand the man and some of the moments which have become highlights of history."

Premiere of "The Decision"

Historian-playwright, Ann Hawkes Hutton, discusses Washington role with Jack Irwin, actor-producer, who will star in Mrs. Hutton's play "The Decision." The two are shown in a recent conference at the historic Thompson-Neely House, Washington Crossing Park, scene of the action of the play.

is expected to be one of the summer's most gala nights at Cherry Lane Playhouse. A number of Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey notables will be on hand for Mrs. Hutton's debut in her newest field of endeavor.

Council To Decide

Tullytown Zoning Proposal In Draw

Approximately 40 residents of Tullytown Borough crowded into Borough Hall last night to whom it up either for or against the principle of zoning.

The occasion was the second of two public hearings on a zoning code that has been proposed by a committee headed by Ernest Janson, 243 Lakeside Drive, who is also head of the borough's industrial development committee.

As in the previous hearing two weeks ago, the result was a heavily worded draw. Final decision now is up to Borough Council which can either accept or reject the code after an interval of 15 days to allow it to be advertised.

Personal Debate

The hearing turned into somewhat of a personal debate between Janson and Borough Councilman John Silvi, who is adamantly opposed to zoning for Tullytown.

However, Silvi had support from Bernard Mazzocchi, 366 Main St. Half a dozen residents spoke up in support of Janson and for zoning.

Among them were two members of the borough school board, Mrs. Lois Arzt, president, and Morris Feldman, vice-president. A third school director, Robert Hoover, also was present at the meeting.

Feldman told the group the present school tax in Tullytown inevitably must increase sharply and that more industry is needed in the borough to keep individual taxes down. The school district has a 49-mile real estate

Declares Objection

John C. Helble, who owns a farm on the Tullytown - Fallsington Road at the Falls Township line, objected to the classification of R-2 which has been proposed for his property and indicated he would oppose it.

Helble also has a machine shop on his property which is used intermittently and a small trailer court. He stated he would press for a commercial zoning.

Six of the seven borough councilmen were present with only Council President Michael Pirolli absent. Except for Silvi none of them spoke up to indicate whether he is in favor of or opposed to the proposed code.

Pirolli, at the previous public hearing, has expressed his opposition.

15-Day Interval

The code now goes to council either at a special meeting after the 15-day interval required by law has passed or at the regularly scheduled September meeting, Sept. 16.

2nd Whale Dies At Aquarama

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The second of four whales flown here after their capture in the North Atlantic died Monday at Aquarama.

Newfie, an 11-foot, 1,100 pound male apparently died of lung congestion, officials said. Brigus, the first whale to die, was drowned when his spout remained open while he was underwater. His death, two days after arrival, was blamed on a nervous upset caused by the travel.

The remaining whales, Willie and Winkie, appear to be in good condition.

Midget Racing Asked In Lower Makefield

This one will be known as "Case 90" in Lower Makefield zoning history. A non-profit organization's plans to construct a midget race track in residential Lower Makefield Township is expected to bring opposition from residents in both Makefield and Falls township. Officials of the Pennel Quarter - Midget Race Club will seek an exception to the zoning code to permit it to use a 25-acre farm tract for a raceway in Lower Makefield, near the Falls township line. Construction Plans The club proposes to construct a $2,500 auto raceway on the farm of Eugene E. Heiber of Oxford Valley Road. The area is zoned R-1 for residential.

The request for an exemption will be aired by the Makefield Zoning Board at 8 p.m. Thursday in the township municipal building. Two other requests will also be heard, with Chairman Wallace DeWitt presiding. Harry Beil, township zoning officer, said the club is a non-profit organization, and will probably use the track for weekend races. Used Langhorne Track The club, with principal official being Charles Ruszin Jr. of Pennel, formerly held its races on the Langhorne Speedway infield but discontinued in 1961. The move to obtain a raceway in Lower Makefield is the first step toward reorganizing the club. Ruszin, a Pennel jeweler, has said the race cars are not that noisy although they are not muffled. He said the autos can be muffled. He indicated the cars are not "go-carts" but midget racing cars for use by children, aged five to 15. There is no adult participation except for fathers who repair the racers. The preliminary plans call for a 1-20 mile raceway, including bleachers for judges and spectators, and refreshment stands, rest rooms and a pit area. Spectators would view races from behind a three-foot-high fence. The tract, about 525 feet off Oxford Valley Road, is roughly 240 feet wide. A group of residents has reportedly already begun circulating a petition requesting the zoning board to turn down the request. Other Requests The zoning board will also hear a request for a variance by Dr. Arthur Krosnick of Warwick Road to build a swimming pool next to his house. The board will hear another request by Monroe Koggan of 106 Tudor Lane for a variance to allow a sideyard of less than the required 15 feet. When asked for information about this race track, Township Manager William H. Struwe refused to discuss it. The race track request is listed as Case 90 before the zoning board.

Seeks Medical Damages Father Asks Board To Revamp Insurance

An angry Falls Township resident last night asked the Pennsbury Joint School Board to overhaul its accident insurance program. John Chokey charged that Mutual of Omaha, which insures Pennsbury school children, failed to pay nearly $900 in medical expenses incurred after his daughter was injured in school. His daughter's major expenses were incurred after the contract had expired. The company contends it does not have to pay, but Chokey believes it should pay since the original injury happened while his daughter was covered. Chokey asked that a new insurance company be used and that a new broker be obtained to replace Lukens, Savage, Washburn and Rosenbaum. H. Russell Brown, president of the joint board, said the board previously decided to use another insurance carrier for 1963-64. He said however, that the brokerage firm would continue as the board's agent. Board To Check Claim Brown also told Chokey that the board's attorney would investigate his claim against Mutual of Omaha. "We cannot force the company to pay," Brown said, "if it's not in the contract." In making his request, Chokey gave the board the following account: His daughter Linda, then 14, was a student in Medill Bair High School, Fairless Hills, when she was injured during study period in February, 1962. She was standing, talking to a friend, when someone took away her chair. When she went to sit down she fell against the back of the chair, hitting her head. Complained Of Headaches She was not permitted to go to the school nurse because it was near the end of the school day. A few days later she complained of headaches. Chokey took his daughter to a Morrisville doctor where she was examined, X-rayed, and treated. The bill, amounting to about $70, was later paid by Mutual of Omaha. Several months later Linda complained of headaches and dizziness. A lump also appeared at the point of injury. Finally, a year after the accident, she was hospitalized in Mercer Hospital, Trenton. The bill came to $893, which the company has refused to pay because, under terms of the contract, all claims must be settled within the 52-week coverage period. Chokey asked that the board consider a policy which would provide additional coverage, even if it meant increased premiums. Brown promised the board would consider his request.

Bridge St. Robin Sands (bottom) hoists up the sign to Henry Hartz (left, top), foreman, and Jim Hadley on scaffold. The new measure will be in effect 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. daily. (Courier-Times Photo).

Yardley Apt. Hearing Set

A public hearing on a proposed amendment to the Yardley zoning ordinance prohibiting apartments will be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Borough Hall. President Henry O'Brien said the hearing will be held before Yardley Borough Council. The amendment will prohibit construction of new apartments or conversion of homes into apartments in the residential 1 and 2 sections of the borough. The amendment was drawn up by the council's ordinance committee, after residents complained of the many new apartments going up in this historic town. Residents just recently formed the Yardley Citizen's Association to fight more apartments, after a total of four new apartments were built with 36 units in the last two years.

Port Report Due Sept. 4

A port feasibility study by Walter P. Hedden, port consultant from New York, will be released in Morrisville on Wednesday, Sept. 4, it was announced today. William R. Johnson, acting executive director of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission, said the "high points" of the six-month report will be reviewed at 9 a.m. and at 10 a.m. a press conference will be held at commission headquarters. The bridge commission authorized Hedden on Jan. 17 at a fee of $16,000 to develop and write a port study to investigate the feasibility of port development along the Delaware River in all aspects. His report, begun Feb. 5, was completed Aug. 5. Johnson said Herman A. Shotwell, chairman of the commission, will preside, and Hedden will be along with other associates to interpret it. Meanwhile, the bridge commission may benefit from port legislation now being considered in Washington which would grant it broader powers in developing ports.

Frightening Asthma Attacks End In Minutes As New Formula Unblocks Lung Passages Fast

New Medical Formula Restores Free Breathing Without Vaccines, Shots Or Narcotics. Calms Anxiety. No Prescription Needed. New York, N.Y. (Special)—A team of scientists has announced a new formula that stops frightening asthma attacks in minutes and unblocks lung passages fast. Medical tests prove this formula promptly restores free breathing, so calms anxiety and relieves the worst symptoms of asthma—the streaming for breath, the gasping, the wheezing, the terrible fear of suffocation. All without vaccines, painful shots or habit-forming drugs. This formula is so safe when used as directed, it can be sold without prescription in any tablets called BRONITIN®. Doctors know that when asthma strikes, breathing tubes become swollen, lung passages become blocked, so air is "trapped" inside lungs and less and less oxygen can enter. Now BRONITIN, with two asthma relieving medicines that doctors prescribe for their patients, acts quickly to open bronchial tubes and loosen the mucus that blocks lung passages. Trapped air is released and new vital oxygen enters the lungs. The result is: free breathing is restored, tension eased and so fears are calmed in minutes. Sufferers can now look forward to restful sleep. Get BRONITIN—available at all drug stores without prescription. Adv.
